

Many have asked me,
"Will your business survive the COVID-19 pandemic?"
My reply, "Of course we will!"

In my experience, it is events, such as this, that bring people closer together. Many of our clients have already reached out to me, to help. It is important to remember that small businesses employ single moms and dads, young adults just out of school, and, retired people.

We are the glue that keeps our economy alive. Without small businesses we would be at the mercy of only a few huge corporations monopolizing the communities. Small businesses create competition and drive prices down for consumers.

At XQUENDA Spa at Rancho Manana, we offer top quality services with technicians that are the best in their fields, at an affordable price. It's a win - win for all!

So, keep checking back on our website for updates. As soon as I have the confidence that we can reopen safely, we will make the announcement by blasting out an email to all of our loyal patrons! Until then, be safe and take care of your loved ones!

Much love from Shandell and Team XQUENDA!
